

ZÉ DA LEONOR

“Zé da Leonor”,

As he was known in the region, was a farmer who acquired the Quinta Nova at the beginning of the 20th century, and began the project that led to the production of this wine. Today, four generations later, his grandson and great-grandsons brought the farm back to life. They planted a new vineyard, built a winery and now produce a wine with his name - “Zé da Leonor” – that, like its namesake, reveals the character and strong personality that we wish to pass on to future generations.

RED GRANDE ESCOLHA 2016

Country

Portugal

Region

Tejo

Grape Varieties

Cabernet Sauvignon

Special Designation

Grande Escolha

Terroir

Sandy loam soil, on a slope facing south, with cold and rainy winters and hot dry summers

Harvest

Mechanical harvest

Vinification

Foot crushed in granite lagars, followed by fermentation in truncated cone shaped stainless steel tanks at 25°C

Aging

12 months in french oak barrels of 225L

Production

1200 bottles (750ml)

Serving Suggestions

16°C

Tasting Note

Garnet colour, with aromas of black fruit, pepper and complex truffle notes, in perfect harmony with the toasty French oak where the wine aged. Concentrated, fresh and elegant on the palate, with tannins that ensure good development over a number of years

Accompanying Suggestion

Strong meat roasts

Alcohol

14,5% vol

Total Acidity

4,35 g/l

Volatile Acidity

0,74 g/l

PH

3,64

Residual Sugar

1,7 g/l

Winemaker

Filipe Sevinato Pinto

Producer

Casa Agrícola Rebelo Lopes

